Faculty of Law

Introduction

The Faculty of Law of Tribhuvan University is one of the oldest and largest Faculties in the country. Tribhuvan University (TU) was established in 1959 AD and the Faculty of Law was established in 1972 AD in the name of Institute of Law. In 1984, the same Institute of Law was converted into the Faculty of Law. The Faculty of Law has been conducting 3-year post-graduate LL.B programme, 5-year B.A.LL.B. integrated double degree graduate programme, 2-year LL.M. and 3-year LL.M. programmes and 3-year Ph.D. programme. Among all the universities of Nepal the Ph.D. in Law Programme is offering by only the TU, Faculty of Law, Dean's Office. There are six constituent Campuses (Mahendra Multiple Campus, Dharan; Mahendra Bindeshwori Multiple Campus, Rajbiraj; Nepal Law Campus, Kathmandu; Butwal Multiple Campus, Butwal; Prithivi Narayan Multiple Campus, Pokhara; and Mahendra Multiple Campus, Nepalgunj) and two affiliated campuses (Hari Khetan Multiple Campus, Birgunj and National Law College; Sanepa, Lalitpur) under the Faculty of Law. Currently, more than 13,000 students are studying in the different campuses including affiliated campuses under the Faculty of Law.

Brief History of Legal Education in Nepal

The first elementary school for legal training (SrestaPathasla as it was locally known) was started in 1905 AD with the objective to produce a bunch of clerical level trained human resources to work for the administration of justice. For upgrading the status of legal fraternity as well as the access to legal education, the Nepal Law College (then affiliated to Patna University in India) was established in Kathmandu in 1954 AD with the aim to produce law graduates who are needed to take up specific jobs in government and works as high-level legal professionals and practitioners.

The Nepal Law College was de-affiliated from Patna University and was placed under Tribhuvan University (TU) in 1960 AD. In 1971, the National Education System Plan (NESP) was introduced with the objective of producing necessary competent human resources at different levels and in different areas in order to meet the need of human resources for the country's development goals. In the process of implementation of the NESP, the Institute of Law was established in 1972 and it was made responsible for formulating plans and policies to promote the legal education in the country and also to undertake academic activities in legal sector. Accordingly, the Institute started 2-year Certificate level and 3-year Diploma course in law with comprehensive curriculum. Out of 1100 full marks, 600 marks was given for law, 400 marks was set aside for humanities and social science subjects and 100 marks was set aside for languages, which involved five years legal education after matriculation.

In 1984, TU undertook overall structural changes and readjustments. The Institute of Law was converted into the Faculty of Law and the prevailing semester system was also superseded by annual system; the Certificate in Law (C.L.) renamed as Proficiency Certificate Level in Law (P.C.L.) and the Diploma-in Law (D.L.) as Bachelor in Law (B.L.). Even as in the years when it was running as the Institute of Law, the Faculty of Law was generously engaged in improving, developing and promoting legal education system and expanding research activities in Nepal.

With the restoration of multiparty democratic system in Nepal in 1990, TU restructured higher education sector in law in the form of 3-year B.L. and 3-year LL.B. programmes after graduation. Consequently, P.C.L. and B.L. were phased out in 1995. The courses LL.B. and LL.M. are being offered since 1996 and the Ph.D. in Law from 1997.

The rationale behind the introduction of LL.M. course is to develop the students of the faculty on critical thinking, humanistic values and holistic perception as needed for the present day in our societal context. The curriculum has been completely changed in February 2009 to respond the need of 21st century as well as to accommodate the new development in law, justice and Nepal's political system. The programme by virtue of the rich heritage of legal thoughts and traditional around us, aims to promote and disseminate the knowledge of law of legal process in the light of the country's socio-cultural perspective and the development goals. To this end, the programme is designed to produce human resources possessed with the essential skill, competence and integrity for assuming responsible role in such way that they can make productive contribution in the area of the administration of justice and the functioning of a just, dynamic and democratic society. The LL.M. course envisages imparting a strong sense of responsibility towards society and a great sense of respect for humanity and at the same time to develop the highest standards inter-alia of professional behavior and spirit of dedication for welfare of the people and the betterment of their life style.

In tune with political and constitutional change in the country, TU Faculty of Law has completely overhauled the existing curriculum of post-graduate 3-year LL.B. and 2-year LL.M. programmes. In 2010, 5-year B.A.LL.B. integrated programme after plus two level has been introduced and 3-year LL.M. programme also introduced in 2012 AD.

In 2013, Tribhuvan University decided to reintroduce Semester system in all of the faculties. In the first phase it has implemented in Master Degree Programmes at the Central Campus of Tribhuvan University and in the second phase in all degree programmes at the campuses of the Kathmandu Valley and in the third phase in all degree programmes of Tribhuvan University. As per the decision of the Tribhuvan University, the Faculty Board of the Faculty of Law had decided to introduce Semester system in 2015. Then the Faculty has been implemented Semester system in the B.A.LL.B. programme in 10-semester, LL.M. programmes in 4-semester and 6-semester from this year (2017).

Rational for Master of Laws (LL.M.) Six-Semester Programme

The Faculty of Law has started 6-semester Master of Laws (LL.M.) programme for those who want to take career as jurists, academicians, legal scholars, legal consultants and specialized legal professionals. This programme is designed to orient the students towards research so that they can play a more constructive role in the development of law and the legal system in Nepal's new republic federal democratic system.

The need for the LL.M. programme in semester system is crucial for achieving the goal of legal excellence backed by highly trained jurists, scholars and lawyers of national standing as well as of international status in Nepal. The 6-semester LL.M. course will be able to enrich law students with firm grounding in Nepal's legal traditions, research and latest development in the world as well as for timely exams and results with higher scores.

Objectives

The main objectives of LL.M. programme are:

- To impart legal knowledge from socio-cultural and development perspective;
- To produce human resources equipped with legal skill, competence and integrity;
- To inculcate in students a sense of responsibility towards the society, the nation and the world and of respect for human life.
- To develop a base of legal excellence with international and indigenous understandings;
- To promote research by the faculty and the students in order to understand the insights of law and justice;
- To prepare legal scholars, jurists and academicians for the professions of law teaching, research, judicial and government services and consultants for public and private enterprises.

Duration

This is a six-semester course and the normal duration of the course shall be 36 months. The programme is designed only for those who are employed or engaged in any trade, profession, business or occupation or who are not able to study in 4-semester programme during daytime. At present, this programme is running in the morning shift. It may change unless otherwise permitted by a decision of Faculty Board, Faculty of Law. Students failing to complete the requirements in 72 months have to reenroll if they want to earn LL.M. degree.

Academic Calendar

International Law - III

Course Title: International Law – III (International Humanitarian Law)

Course Code: Law 293

Period Per Week: Three

Duration of the Course: 48 hrs

Credit Hours: 3 Credits

Semester: Fifth

Pass Mark: 50%

Nature: Optional

Level: LL.M.

Course Description:

The international humanitarian law is applicable in armed conflict in both national and international in character. The application of IHL becomes more complex in non international armed conflict because the state out rightly denies the existence of armed conflict within its territory and application of IHL instead of its own municipal laws. Armed conflict of any type often results in the massive violation of human rights. In this context, state parties to the armed conflict can't escape from the application of IHL and they are compelled to prosecute the perpetrators of the IHL violation. So the students should have to know how IHL is applicable and perpetrators are made criminally responsible. So the course involves five units comprising basic concept of IHL, categories of the armed conflict, conduct of hostility, application of IHL, and modern trend in IHL.

Course Objective:

The course is intended to give students a comprehensive idea about international humanitarian law (IHL) or the law of armed conflict and its broad interrelationship with some of the other branches of international law. Moreover, the course aims at providing comprehensive knowledge on origin, development and application of International Humanitarian Law. The course also intends to enable students to analyse interplay between International Humanitarian Law and International Human Rights Law.
